

Call for Readers, The Kennesaw Tower

The Kennesaw Tower, the new on-line, Foreign Language Undergraduate Research Journal at Kennesaw State University, is looking for readers to judge submissions by advanced undergraduate students in the following areas:

Hispanic Cultures, Literatures and Linguistics

Francophone Cultures, Literatures and Linguistics

Germanic Cultures, Literatures and Linguistics

Italian Culture, Literature and Linguistics

Foreign Language Pedagogy

Potential readers should hold a Ph.D. in their respective field of expertise, or equivalent experience. We ask that, upon contacting The Kennesaw Tower, potential readers state their sub-specialty (i.e., “Contemporary Italian Theatre”) and (although not at all a requirement for selection as a reader) any undergraduate research experience in which you may have been involved.

Papers will be written in Spanish, French, German or Italian, and submitted with an abstract in English. Readers are encouraged to respond to submissions within 30 days of receipt at the journal. Please refer to our website, <http://kennesawtower.hss.kennesaw.edu> for details on who we are and what we publish.

Papers accepted through a double-blind process of qualified, faculty review will be published in our 2012-2013 issue. The deadline for submissions is January 15th, 2012. You can find submission guidelines at <http://kennesawtower.hss.kennesaw.edu/submissions.html>.

If you are interested in serving as a reader for The Kennesaw Tower, please reply to Dr. Susanne Kelley, Editor-in-Chief, at skelle16@kennesaw.edu. We hope to be working with you soon!